

Best Song From Each Kanye Album

Ranking the albums is an exercise that is too tricky. Each album is loved for different reasons, and each one is creative, innovative, and unique in its own right.

So instead here is the best song from each album!

14 years ago Kanye West's debut album released. It gave us all-timers like "Slow Jamz", "All Falls Down", "Spaceship", and "Workout Plan". While you cannot go wrong with any of these picks, and they are all worthy of being considered the best song from this album, it has to be "Through the Wire". It tells Kanye's story and really introduces you to who he is and what he has endured.

Honorable Mentions: "Slow Jamz", "All Falls Down", "Spaceship"

The most popular song from this album is probably "Gold Digger" or "Diamonds", and these are both great songs and would be great picks but the best song is "Gone". The song break from the 3:33 until the 4:13 mark is just so beautiful.

Honorable Mentions: "Touch the Sky", "Heard 'Em Say", "Diamonds"

This album has one of the few big swings...and misses of Kanye West songs - "Barry Bonds". There are plenty of successful and popular songs from this album. "Stronger" with Daft Punk is the most commercially successful song and "Homecoming" is the sentimental pick from this album. (Driving home from school and putting it on as soon as you can finally see the skyline). The best song though? It has to be Flashing Lights.

Honorable Mentions: "Good Life", "Can't Tell Me Nothing", "Stronger"

Probably the most hotly debated, and simultaneously underrated Kanye album. This album brought us dark, sad Kanye who through his own insecurities fell in love with the sound of his voice with Autotune.

The song "Amazing" become the theme song of the NBA playoffs that year, and "Robocop" probably brings the best moment (when Kanye repeats "spoiled little LA girl, just an LA girl")

But, the best song on the album is "Say You Will".

Honorable Mentions: “Heartless”, “Love Lockdown”, “Street Lights”, “Bad News”

Power is probably the most popular song and the song break in Devil in a New Dress deserves to be discussed, the best song on this album is Runaway. Let us not forget about the 34-minute video of the same name that accompanied this album, that was just absolutely stunning.

Honorable Mention: “Lost in the World”, “All of the Lights”, “Monster”

My Beautiful Dark Twisted Fantasy gave us the ridiculous Kanye and Kim video for “Bound 2”, and the subsequent spoof video by Seth Rogan and James Franco. It gave us Kanye having a fake conversation with Jesus, and himself “Yeezus” and it gave us a song called “Black Skinhead”.

The best song by a narrow margin is going to have to be “Blood on the Leaves”.

Honorable Mentions: “I’m In It”

The Life of Pablo gave us one of the most Kanye moments of all on “I love Kanye”. The song he made about Kanye, loving Kanye, while discussing in the song how ridiculous making a song about how much Kanye loves Kanye would be.

The song “Pt. 2” was in the running but the biggest knock on the song is that it is too short. If you combined “Pt. 1” and “Pt. 2” into a singular song? *shrug emoji*

Ultra Light Beam is the best song on this album. Chance sort of steals this song but it does not matter. This song is amazing.

Honorable Mentions: “FML”, “Pt. 2”, “Wolves”

The most recently released Kanye album, self entitled Ye is short but it certainly sweet. Made during his long creative retreat Wyoming it totals seven songs (a theme with all the albums made during this period), and lasts only 24 minutes. He addresses his mental health issues, in a weirdly fresh way.

The opening track on the album he openly talks about how he has thought about killing what I assume is his wife, Kim. There is another song “Violent Crimes” where he is talking to his daughter, North and mentioned how he hopes she gets his body instead of Kim’s.

The best song with all due respect to “Yikes” and “All Mine” has to be “Ghost Town”.

Honorable Mentions: “Yikes” and “All Mine”

Thank you for all you've given us Kanye.
